

Playing the ASDC WCS DVDs. February 2005

The DVDs are professionally produced with the same format as DVD movies. Most DVD players and computers play our DVDs. I use Microsoft Windows Media Player and Cyberlink's Power DVD without problems. Also, my portable Cyberhome DVD player works fine.

How it should work: When you put the DVD in the player or computer the initial screen allows selection from several menu items. To select a menu item use your navigational controls to highlight the item and press enter (select). The selection will then play or you will see another menu screen where you again select an item. After an item finishes the next item in the sub-menu plays; this continues till the last item in the sub-menu plays. You may use the DVD controls to stop play and return to the menu at any time.

Reported Problems.

One problem was traced to a thumbprint on the DVD.

Some DVD players do not allow adequate navigation to access all the modules.

Some DVD players were incorrectly hooked-up or set-up.

Send questions and problem reports to Krichardson@gsu.edu.